

If you have calves, you need...

Fight Bac - the best disinfectant for post milking, is also the best disinfectant for calf navels.

Fight Bac's antibacterial formula with chlorhexidine has been proven to be just as effective as 7% tincture of iodine, plus it's more available and costs a lot less. One can will treat 150 navels (spray the navel generously). Fight Bac also is more convenient and less messy than using iodine in a dip cup (or paper cup) — no gloves needed.

For years now, hospitals have turned away from iodine and switched to chlorhexidine for treating umbilical cords in human babies. It simply is a better antibacterial.

Also, use Fight Bac on cuts, wounds, injection sites, udder rot (when nothing else works) and to cleanse a teat prior to intramammary infusion. Put a can in every corner of your dairy.

Dipping navels with that???

Stop using a messy, contaminated dip cup for calf navels. With Fight Bac, there is no chance to spread infection, plus Fight Bac's antibacterial formula with chlorhexidine has been proven to be just as effective as 7% tincture of iodine. At $0.08 per navel, compared to navel dip at $1.10 or more per navel, you can't afford not to use Fight Bac!
